25X1D 1. This memorandum is in response to your requirement dated 27 February 1964 requesting a description of the newly identified SA-2 site near Peking, China at 39-34-00N 116-24-40E on Mission [REDACTED]

25X1D 2. This newly identified SA-2 site, first observed on [REDACTED] (Feb 64), is located 21.5 nautical miles south of Peking. The site configuration appeared to be a combination of the Soviet SA-2 Link and Fan configurations.

25X1B [REDACTED]

25X1B [REDACTED] Three (3) drive-through buildings along the perimeter road serve as missile hold buildings. These buildings did not appear to be revetted. Two buildings and two unidentified objects (probable FAN SONG radar) are discernible in the guidance area. Unidentified objects were apparent in the two easternmost launch revetments---probably missiles, and the site is believed to be occupied and operational.

A support area containing about ten (10) small buildings is located immediately northwest of the site. Three buildings to the east of the site also appeared to be associated with the site. Southwest of the site a probable warhead storage area was observed. It contains two buildings and appeared to be secured by a fence or wall. A probable commo installation, secured by a fence or wall, was also observed immediately south of the site.
